Gathered to Remember

For almost 2000 years, Sunday after Sunday, Christians have come together to listen to the Word of God and to share a meal of thanks and remembrance. We call that ritual the Eucharist or the Mass. In Catholic tradition, the celebration of the Mass has been the central identifying action of the church. Our liturgy has power and beauty when celebrations are done with attention and devotion, with full, active, and conscious participation by every person present.
